

The school Council has boosted my confidence and made me feel more responsible as an agent of action. I think it is working really well and I would love to carry on educating the school about climate change for many projects to come.

School Council has made me more aware of climate change and the effects it has. At home, I try to use as eco-friendly things as I can. The assembly helped raise awareness, especially for the younger children.

I LOVE school council because it has made me more confident, made an impact on the school, raised awareness of plastic problems, beeswax paper and more! Most of all its lots of fun!!

I feel that the school council has made me a bit more brave and able to speak in front and around the school.

I finally understand climate change and I love helping out with solving it.

I think that school council is very effective as lots of people are more conscious of plastic

I think school council should keep on going because the parents have already bought two books and my mum is already thinking of buying some beeswax paper.

I think that school council is really good and I think that its shown me how plastic is effecting the world.
